FOREWORD

WARREN SHERMAN HAYDEN, whose work of many years makes possible the publication of this record of the Hayden family in America, was born in Danbury, Connecticut, on October 20, 1870.

He was the son of Anna Flower Sherman Hayden and Warren Luce Hayden, the latter a distinguished minister in the Disciple Church and a close associate of its founder, Alexander Campbell.

Mr. Hayden's earliest paternal ancestor was John Hayden who came to Dorchester, Massachusetts, in or before 1632. Most of his ancestral lines lead directly to New England, with a sprinkling of Scotch-Irish and Quaker, and in these he had a special pride, even more than in his Mayflower lineage. In the yearly meetings of the New England Society in Cleveland, of which he had been president, he would choose the little white ribbon badge that carried the name Vermont, which was his mother's state.

Educated at Union School and at Washington and Jefferson Academy in Washington, Pennsylvania, Mr. Hayden went to Hiram, Ohio, in the fall of 1885 and for the next seven years was in school and college there, being graduated in 1892 from Hiram College. Another member of the Hayden line, Amos Sutton Hayden, had served as Hiram's first president. From 1900 until his death in 1933 Mr. Warren S. Hayden served on Hiram's Board of Trustees.

Coming to Cleveland in 1892 he entered the house of Lamprecht Brothers, selling investment bonds. Incessant travel in those years gave him intimate familiarity with the country, east and west. In three years he had become manager of the Bond Department. During this period also he studied law by himself and was admitted third in the class to the Ohio Bar in 1898.

In 1903 Mr. Hayden formed with Mr. Otto Miller of Cleveland, the partnership that was his first interest: Hayden, Miller and Company, Investment Securities.

When, in 1932, the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce presented to him their Medal for Distinguished Service, the citation read as follows:

"The Cleveland Medal for Public Service is awarded to WARREN SHERMAN HAYDEN for his invaluable contributions to Cleveland's civic life throughout a quarter of a century; for his statesmanlike services in wise leadership of the Cleveland Community Fund; for his faithful services to the Metropolitan Park Board in providing for the recreation of our people; and also for the example of a business career which continually gives evidence of that integrity, fidelity and courage which distinguish his high character."

The books that hold the records of the generations are never finished, nor was Mr. Hayden's contribution to his chapter finished.

That the continuity of his family line may be preserved and the remembrance of his labors may be carried in the minds of his descendants and friends, the wife and children of Warren Sherman Hayden publish this genealogy.

ELIZABETH STRONG HAYDEN.

AUTHOR'S NOTE

THROUGHOUT a crowded life Warren Sherman Hayden maintained an active interest in genealogy. Over forty years ago, when in his early twenties, he began to collect information about his ancestors, chiefly by an ever widening correspondence with members of the Hayden family. He was able to gather together from his older relatives much material that would now be unavailable. From the first Mr. Hayden was systematic and businesslike about genealogy, as about so many other things, and he early prepared and widely distributed a circular and questionnaire about his family, summarizing what was then known and what should be learned. His field of inquiry was a difficult one as the Hayden family had to be followed from its original appearance in Massachusetts, through later settlements in New Jersey and Pennsylvania to its late home in Ohio.

The pressure of other affairs would at times require Mr. Hayden to drop his genealogical studies for months and even years, but he would then pick them up again with renewed interest and vigor. In the year 1928 came such a period of activity and it was then that he turned over to the present writer his entire collection of notes and correspondence with the request that all his findings be tested. This was the beginning of an association which meant much to the writer. Mr. Hayden was a man of great powers, a brilliant conversationalist, orator, and correspondent. He brought to genealogy a most acute intelligence, a lively sympathy, an exceptional understanding of that peculiar science and a strict regard for historical accuracy.

It was Mr. Hayden's intention to publish "in a modest volume" the genealogical history of the families most closely related to him and to his wife. This work was progressing to his satisfaction when his untimely death brought the researches to an end. His wife and children have been interested in preserving by publication now the most important part of the manuscript, that giving the history of the Hayden family and its migration from Massachusetts to Ohio. If this history were lost it would be very difficult for many Hayden cousins to establish their ancestry.

This manuscript is not intended as a complete genealogy of the Hayden family, but traces Mr. Hayden's own ancestry, proves the connection between the New England families and their southern and western descendants and preserves many of the findings of Warren Sherman Hayden. Many other lines can be traced and notes on them have appeared in The Hayden Family Magazine but the later generations have been excluded from this book unless they were among the notes of Warren Sherman Hayden.

A few terms which are met in this book may be in need of explanation. The emigrant is numbered "1" and the numbers given after each later generation indicate the degree of descent from the founder of the family. Dates are frequently double-dated, i.e., "1663/64." Until 1751 the old style calendar was in use in England, when, by act of Parliament, the new style of dating was adopted. According to the old style, the year began on March 25th, thus until 1752 the dates between January 1st and March 25th came at the end of the preceding year according to the old style, and at the beginning of a new year according to the new or present calendar. The records given in this book have been double-dated when it is clear that the original record was written according to the old style calendar. Otherwise, dates have been transcribed as found, as it is often impossible to tell whether the date has been given in the old or new style, especially when used by a secondary authority. In revising the calendar in September, 1752, it was necessary to drop eleven days. Some writers have made a practice of dropping these days so as to make the dates conform to the modern style. This practice has not been followed in this book.

In the New England towns, those who founded the towns and contributed to the purchase of land from the Indians were the "inhabitants" and had the right to decide who, among the later comers, was acceptable as an inhabitant of the town. A man had no right to use the common grazing land, the common wood and water supply until he was thus admitted as an inhabitant. Even if permitted to remain in a town for a long period, if he were not admitted as an inhabitant the town was not responsible for him should he become incapacitated through old age or sickness. In order to become a freeman of a Colony, a man must have been previously admitted an inhabitant of the town and proposed for freeman by the freemen of the town, who vouched for his character. Only freemen had the right of franchise and the right to hold public office, military or civil. At first the General Court was composed of the whole body of freemen and performed both legislative and judicial functions but as this system became inconvenient, deputies were elected from each town to serve in the General Court. The presiding officer of this Court was the Governor of the Colony. The Colonial militia consisted of all able bodied men between the ages of sixteen and sixty. As the towns were at first composed of very few settlers, the train bands (militia companies) were correspondingly small and the commanding officer was an ensign or lieutenant. As they increased in size, the rank of the commanding officer rose to captain.

As in England, the title "Mr." was an honorary appellation by no means freely used. Yeomen were called simply by their names, or if they were entitled to somewhat more respect, were called "Goodman." The use of "Mr." was confined to those who held a certain definite social position such as clergymen, physicians or schoolmasters and it usually indicated men of some education or means.

1. JOHN¹ HAYDEN, who settled at Dorchester, Massachusetts, now part of Boston, in or before the year 1632, presumably came from England but his birthplace is not known. On January 16, 1632/33, the town records of Dorchester show him among those who were to have "their great lotts of 16 acres a peece, next the great lotts that are all redy layde out towards Naponsett." This entry is the first mention of Hayden in New England. An additional eight acres were granted him on December 1, 1634, which he had evidently disposed of before January, 1635/36, and an acre and a half of swamp land was granted him in April, 1635. On March 18, 1637/38, John Hayden was allotted four acres and twelve rods in the division of land in the neck, and something more than three acres in the cow pasture. He was made a freeman on May 14, 1634. About or before this time Hayden married one Susanna, whose last name cannot be learned. She survived him and died in 1684, before October 31st of that year.

The records of the General Court of the Colony show that on June 6, 1639, "John Haydens fine, for intertaining a servant vnlicensed, being done ignorantly, is remitted him." Perhaps he had removed by this time to Braintree, Massachusetts, where his name first appeared on the records on May 19, 1640, when his son, Jonathan, was born. When his son Joseph was about eleven years old, in October, 1647, John Hayden petitioned the General Court "for releife in regard of his own infirmity & his child bereaved of his censes," and was told that the assistance should come from his own church and town, which, if they were unable to help him, should appeal to the Court. A year later, however, in October, 1648, again petitioning the Court, he was allowed five pounds, to be paid out of the revenue from the tax on wines, for relief for his "distracted or possessed child." Again in May, 1651, he petitioned the General Court for assistance, "in regard to the affliction of God concerning his child, & also his late loss of a cow, being half his estate," and was allowed five pounds a year out of the town taxes, Braintree itself to contribute anything further that was necessary. Goodman Hayden received five pounds in September, 1653, "as in the past," while in October, 1654, Goodwife Hayden received fifty shillings out of the taxes called "the country rate" for the care of her distracted child for that year. The husband was again allowed five pounds in October, 1655.

On October 28, 1673, John Belcher of Braintree requested the Suffolk County Court to discharge him of his bond for good behaviour, and John Hayden was summoned to the next Court to give in evidence against him. This may have been either John¹ or his son of the same name. On October 29, 1678, John Haiden Sr., with his sons, Ebenezer, Nehemiah and Jonathan, all of Braintree, took the oath of allegiance.

The name was spelled Heiden by the emigrant in his will, and varied in the records to Haden, Hoiden, Hoyden, Hajden, Heyden, Haidon, and other forms. The will was made on October 31, 1678, and John Hayden had died before July 26, 1682, when the will was probated. He named in this testament his wife, Susanna, and his sons, Ebenezer, Joseph, John, Nehemiah, and Jonathan, the children of his son, Samuel, deceased, and the children of his daughter, Hannah, deceased, and provided for the care of his insane son Joseph, who had been the subject of so many petitions for assistance from the General Court. On October 31, 1684, upon representation to the Court that the widow Susanna had died, administration was granted to the sons, John and Jonathan. On April 4, 1695, an inventory was taken of the property not administered by the widow.

There is no evidence to show that John¹ Hayden had, as is sometimes stated, a son, William.

John¹ and Susanna (—) Hayden had the following children:

- i. John², who was born probably at Dorchester, Massachusetts, in or about 1634 or 1635, and died at Braintree, Massachusetts, on May 29, 1718, at the age of eighty-three. He married at Braintree on April 6.

1660, Hannah Ames, daughter of William and Hannah (—) Ames, who was born on May 12, 1641, and died at Braintree of smallpox on July 3, 1690.

- ii. Joseph², who was born probably at Dorchester, Massachusetts, in or about 1636, was living as late as 1684, when his mother's estate was settled, and had died before 1718. He was demented, and, in view of his condition doubtless unmarried.
- iii. Samuel², who was born probably at Dorchester, Massachusetts, (possibly at Braintree, Massachusetts) in or about 1638, and died intestate in 1676. The inventory of his estate was taken on October 26, 1676, and the widow appointed administratrix on October 31st. He married at Braintree, on October 28, 1664, according to the Braintree record, or on May 28, 1664, according to the Boston record. His wife, Hannah Thayer, was the daughter of Thomas and Margery Thayer according to the account of the Thayer family in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, 60: 281, although it had in earlier accounts been generally stated that she was the daughter of Richard Thayer. She survived her husband, and married, probably in or about 1679, as a child was born to them in March, 1679/80. Jonathan Paddleford, son of Jonathan and Mary (Blandford) Paddleford, who was born at Cambridge, Massachusetts, on August 13, 1656. The Paddlefords appear on the church records as late as 1692, and are said to have removed in or about 1700 to Taunton, Massachusetts, although the records of their deaths do not appear on the Taunton vital records.

A misreading of the Braintree vital records gave rise to the statement that there was a William² Hayden, who married Hannah, and had a daughter Susanna born at Braintree on September 23, 1666. Susanna was the daughter not of William and Hannah, but of Samuel and Hannah Hayden. This misreading was the only reason for supposing the existence of a William² Hayden.

- iv. Jonathan², who was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on May 19, 1640, died there in 1718. His will was dated May 13th and probated on June 5, 1718. He married at Braintree, on April 20, 1669, Elizabeth Ladd, whose parentage is unknown, and who died at Braintree on October 7, 1700.
- v. Hannah², who was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, "2 month 7th 1642," and died unmarried.
- vi. Ebenezer², who was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, "12 month 7th 1645," and died there on February 13, 1717/18. He married before 1679, Anna, daughter of William and Ann (Brigham) (Crosby) Tompson, who was born at Braintree, "1 month 3d 1648," and died on October 11, 1737, at Boston, aged eighty-nine.
- 2. vii. Nehemiah², who was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on February 14, 1647/48.

2. NEHEMIAH² HAYDEN (John¹) was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on February 14, 1647/48. He married there in March, 1678/79, Hannah² Neale, who was born probably at Braintree, in or about 1658, died there and was buried on July 25, 1741 (as quoted by Drummond from Samuel Niles' Diary, while according to another reading of the Diary in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, 45: 313, she was buried on February 8, 1719/20.) Hannah Neale was the daughter of Henry Neale of Braintree and his second wife, Hannah Pray. She was admitted to full communion in the Braintree church on March 30, 1690/91.

During King Philip's War, Captain Thomas Prentice had been commissioned on June 24, 1675, to command a special military company which engaged the Indians in several encounters. They drove the Indians from Swansea across to Pocasset, and on June 30th marched across the Mount Hope neck, and were quartered at Rehoboth. The troop divided on the first of July and returned, skirmishing on the way. Nehemiah Hayden served under Prentice in this Mount Hope Campaign, and on August 27, 1675, was credited with one pound, seven shillings pay.

On March 6, 1692/93, he was chosen by the town as surveyor of highways, and on March 2, 1695/96, tithingman. On the latter date, when a vote of the town was taken to the effect that the schoolmaster should have ten pounds a year in addition to the income of the town lands, Hayden was one of several men to dissent. He was, on January 10, 1697/98, one of the group of freeholders who signed an agreement to bear the expense of law suits against those inhabitants of Boston who sought to lay claim to Braintree land. On October 7, 1697, he was admitted to full communion in the church. He was chosen on March 4, 1699/1700, surveyor of highways for Menatiquod, and also to serve on a committee to run the town line. He was chosen selectman in 1706; "Sergeant Nehemiah Hayden" was reappointed selectman in 1707 and 1708, and also appointed assessor; "Mr. Nehemiah Hayden" was appointed selectman in 1709; "Sergeant" Hayden in 1710; "Mr." Hayden in 1711; "Sergeant" Hayden in 1712; "Mr." Hayden in 1713; "Sergeant" Hayden in 1714, and "Mr." Hayden in 1716. He had served as Clerk of the Braintree Train Band, and although the record of his appointment is not available, he had evidently been appointed Sergeant in or before 1707, and continued to be called by that title until 1714.

On March 24, 1706/7, Hayden voted against appointing a committee to let the town's school lands, and in May, 1707, Sergeant Nehemiah Hayden served on a committee to treat with the minister about his salary. On November 3, 1708, Sergeant Nehemiah Hayden and Colonel Edmund Quincy were appointed a committee to petition the General Court that the town might be divided into two precincts for religious worship. He served on a committee in July, 1709, to see to letting the town's meadow, and also on a committee to run the line between Braintree and Weymouth. Sergeant Hayden served on October 24, 1709, as a member of a committee to draw up proposals for more equal proportioning of the improvements of the town commons, and on March 5, 1710/11, Mr. Nehemiah Hayden was a member of a committee "to inspect & Prosecute all incroachments upon the highe wayes, private Town wayes & commons within this Town." He served on various other committees, among them one appointed in May, 1714, to have the wood on the town land cut down and sold, one appointed in May, 1716, to see that a school house be erected "for writing and reading," and one appointed on May 10, 1717, to survey town lands and report on what number of sheep could be kept thereon. He was elected surveyor of highways in March, 1716/17, and on December 2, 1717, at the town meeting, was chosen moderator for the day.

Nehemiah Hayden died at Braintree, on January 12, 1717/18. His will was dated January 6, 1717/18, and probated on February 28, 1717/18. In it he mentioned his wife, Hannah, his eldest son, Nehemiah, his sons, Samuel, Benjamin, John, Ebenezer, and Jonathan, his son-in-law, Samuel Hayden, his daughter, Rachel Paine, and his daughter, Hannah Stevens.

Nehemiah² and Hannah (Neale) Hayden had the following children:

- i. Nehemiah³, who was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on May 16, 1680, and was baptized there on October 4, 1691. He was buried on February 24, 1748/49. His will of October 24, 1747, was probated on March 7, 1748/49. He married at Boston on October 31, 1705, Mary Curtis, daughter of Theophilus and Hannah (Paine) Curtis. She died at Braintree on February 7, 1719/20. He married as his second wife, at Boston, on April 8, 1720, Lydia Thayer, daughter of Nathaniel and Hannah (Hayden) Thayer. Hannah (Hayden) Thayer was the daughter of John² and Hannah (Ames) Hayden, and the granddaughter of John¹ and Susanna (—) Hayden.
- ii. Hannah³, who was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on July 16 or 18, 1681, and was baptized there on October 4, 1691, and died about June 4, 1762. She married Nathaniel Stevens. The births of their children on June 30, 1719, and March 9, 1721, are recorded at Braintree.
- iii. Mary³, who was baptized at Braintree, Massachusetts, on October 4, 1691, died on November 10, 1717, "& her little one soon after & buried with her." She married probably in or about 1702 (as her first child was born in January, 1703), Samuel Hayden, the son of Jonathan² and Elizabeth (Ladd) Hayden, and the grandson of John¹ and Susanna Hayden. He was born at Braintree on June 19, 1677. After her death he married as his second wife, at Braintree, on December 23, 1725, Elizabeth (Haynes) Russ, daughter of Abraham and Abigail Haynes and widow of Richard Russ. She was born at Braintree, on June 8, 1687. Administration on his estate was granted to his son, Clement Hayden, on April 8, 1746.

3. iv. Samuel³, who was baptized at Braintree, Massachusetts, on October 4, 1691.
- v. Benjamin³, who was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on February 22, 1685/86, baptized there on October 4, 1691, and died there on May 14, 1738. He married at Braintree, on May 12, 1722, Elizabeth Faxon, daughter of Josiah and Mehitable (Adams) Faxon, who was born at Braintree, on April 7, 1702. She married as her second husband on November 13, 1750, Captain John Thayer.
- vi. John³, who was baptized at Braintree, Massachusetts, on October 4, 1691, and married at Braintree, on February 26, 1712/13, Margaret (Curtis) Thayer, daughter of Theophilus and Hannah (Paine) Curtis, and widow of Benjamin Thayer. She was born on February 22, 1685/86. They were both living as late as February 20, 1722/23, when they deeded to his brother, Samuel Hayden of Braintree, one sixth portion of the salt meadow and creek thatch "that was their father Hayden's."
- vii. Ebenezer³, who was baptized at Braintree, Massachusetts, on April 16, 1693, and married there, on November 30, 1719, Mary Hollis, daughter of John and Mary (Yardley) Hollis. She was born at Braintree, on November 16, 1696. He married as his second wife, by intention published at Braintree, on February 15, 1765, Rebecca (Staples) (French) Tower, widow of Alexander French and of John Tower. She was born in or about 1712, married Alexander French at Braintree on May 14, 1734, and then married John Tower. She died in 1801, at the age of eighty-nine.
- viii. Rachel³, who was baptized at Braintree, Massachusetts, on April 22, 1694, and died on October 3, 1739. She married Samuel Paine, son of Samuel and Mary (Penniman) Paine, who was born on November 26, 1684, at Braintree, and died probably at Braintree, in 1763. He married as his second wife at Boston on July 7, 1741, Ruth (Littlefield) Dyer.

- ix. Jonathan³, who was baptized at Braintree, Massachusetts, on June 4, 1699, and married there on December 22, 1719, Sarah Copeland, daughter of Thomas and Mary (Arnold) Copeland. She was born at Braintree, on December 23, 1700, and was buried on April 17, 1738.

3. SAMUEL³ HAYDEN (Nehemiah², John¹) was baptized at Braintree, Massachusetts, on October 4, 1691. He married Priscilla⁴ Webb, who was born at Braintree, on September 1, 1697. She owned the covenant on March 4, 1715/16. Priscilla Webb was the daughter of Peter Webb of Braintree and his wife Ruth Bass. This Ruth Bass was the granddaughter of John Alden and his wife Priscilla Mullins, both passengers on the ship Mayflower on her historic voyage of 1620.

On March 1, 1713/14, among the "meet persons that were then chosen, to se to that act as to Regulation of swine" at Braintree, was Samuel Hayden. According to Judge Josiah Hayden Drummond, LL.D., former President of the Maine Historical Society, an able genealogist, and the author of a manuscript genealogy of the Hayden family, which is at the Maine Historical Society in Portland, it was the custom at Braintree at that time, to appoint to that town office men who had just married or who had just attained their majority.

Samuel Hayden and his wife Priscilla, executed a deed dated June 6, 1727, transferring to John Webb of Braintree, miller, for ten pounds, all their interest in the housing, farm, land and mill of "their father," Peter Webb, late of Braintree, deceased. This was acknowledged by Samuel Hayden on April 6, 1728, and by Priscilla on June 6, 1728. At the election of constables on March 3, 1728/29, there was a tie between Samuel Hayden and Nathaniel Littlefield, and a new vote was taken, resulting in the choice of another man, but a year later, on March 2, 1729/30, two men having refused the office, Samuel Hayden was chosen. Samuel Hayden, yeoman, and his wife, Priscilla, conveyed land in Braintree to James Penniman, by a deed dated September 1, 1730. Hayden was chosen selectman in March, 1732/33, and again in March, 1733/34, when he was called Lieutenant. He left Braintree in or about 1746, as on March 6, 1746/47, four pounds, nine shillings, four pence allowance was made to the constable "for that one list, Samll Hayden Late of this Town was taxed so much in a List Committed to the Said Nathil French to collect &c." With him went his children except for his sons, Samuel⁴ and Richard⁴ Hayden who were already married and who remained at Braintree with their families.

The town records show that Samuel³ and Christopher⁴ Hayden were no longer living at Braintree in 1647, and while Jeremiah⁴, Nehemiah⁴, Nathaniel⁴, and William⁴ Hayden, the other sons of Samuel³, are not likewise specifically mentioned, they disappear from the town, county, and church records, and it must be supposed that, like their father and brother, they migrated to a new home. It has not been discovered where Samuel³ Hayden and his wife died. Tradition says that William⁴ went to Philadelphia on a boat from Boston, and possibly Samuel³ accompanied him. The movements of Jeremiah⁴ and Nehemiah⁴ Hayden are likewise unknown. It has been possible, however, through the descendants of Christopher⁴, Nathaniel⁴ and William⁴ Hayden to identify the three last named sons of Samuel³ Hayden, and to follow their westward movement.

The Christopher Hayden who lived at Basking Ridge and Morristown, New Jersey, is said by his grandsons to have had brothers named Nathaniel, William and Samuel (a list which, though incomplete, agrees with the list of Samuel³ Hayden's children born at Braintree, Massachusetts). Three of his children were baptized at Shrewsbury, Monmouth County, New Jersey, on October 31, 1756. Two of his sons removed to Rostraver Township, Pennsylvania, in or about 1787 or 1789, and one of them removed to Hamilton County, Ohio, in or about 1805.

Nathaniel Hayden of Basking Ridge and Morristown, New Jersey, is said by his descendants to have removed from New Jersey to Rostraver Township, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania. He and his wife, "Suviah," are buried near West Newton, Pennsylvania, and his age as given on his gravestone (he died in 1712 in his eighty-sixth year) tallies with the date of birth of Nathaniel Hayden, as given on the Braintree, Massachusetts, records (February 21, 1725/26). The family record of his great-granddaughter, Mrs. Jesse S. Wall (Hannah Jane⁷ Hayden), shows her descent from a Nathaniel Hayden who was born on February 15 or 16, 1726 (the month and year agreeing with the Braintree record), and his wife "Sophia" who was born June 7, 1736 (Suviah Hayden, wife of Nathaniel, died April 29, 1814, in her seventy-eighth year, according to her gravestone record,—the age agrees). Other descendants preserved the tradition that they were related to the John⁵ Hayden (William⁴) of Fayette County, Pennsylvania, who had two wives and twenty-two children, and who first discovered iron west of the mountains.

William Hayden, who married Lydia Casted, lived at Morristown, New Jersey, and had his children baptized at the Shrewsbury Church on the same day that Christopher Hayden's children (above) were baptized there. His son, John Hayden, removed to Fayette County, Pennsylvania, married twice, and had twenty-one or twenty-two children, and was the first man to discover iron west of the Alleghenies.

Briefly, the argument for the identity of the Braintree and New Jersey Haydens is as follows: Six Haydens, Samuel, Jeremiah, Nehemiah, Christopher, Nathaniel and William, disappeared from Braintree, in or about 1747. Less than ten years later, the three last named men appeared at Basking Ridge and Morristown, New Jersey. Christopher and William had their children baptized at the same time at the Shrewsbury, New Jersey, Church, and Christopher and Nathaniel both married girls of the surname Sutton, presumably of the same family. Nathaniel and two sons of Christopher removed to Rostraver Township, Pennsylvania (a section known as the "Jersey Settlement"), at the same time, while a son of William removed to another part of Pennsylvania at that time. Statements made by the descendants of Nathaniel Hayden refer to the son of William Hayden as a relative. A written record left by the grandson of Christopher Hayden states that Christopher had brothers, Nathaniel, William and Samuel, and that the family came from Boston, while another descendant records it as a Braintree family. An examination of the United States Census of 1790, the first census taken, (a date at which most of the members of the generation that left Braintree might be supposed to be still living) shows no similar group of Haydens in Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, or Pennsylvania. The only interpretation that can reasonably be put upon these facts is that the three New Jersey Haydens were the three brothers who had left Braintree a few years earlier.

Samuel³ and Priscilla (Webb) Hayden had the following children:

- i. Samuel⁴, who was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on January 20, 1715/16, and married there on January 12, 1737/38, Esther Allen, daughter of Samuel and Abigail (Savill) Allen. She was born on September 27, 1713, at Braintree, and died on February 15, 1758. They remained at Braintree at least as late as May 30, 1756, when a child was born to them there.

- ii. Amy⁴, who was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on August 26, 1717, and died "the latter end of September," 1717, at Braintree. She was baptized on September 1, 1717, and was buried on September 27, 1717.
- 4. iii. Christopher⁴, who was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on February 18, 1718/19.
- iv. Richard⁴, who was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on January 22, 1720/21, and married on January 15, 1745/46, Mary Hobart, daughter of Josiah and Mercy (Copeland) Hobart. She was born on February 6, 1724/25, at Braintree, and died on August 20, 1787. They remained at Braintree, and a child was born to them there as late as February, 1763.
- v. Jeremiah⁴, who was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on December 20, 1722, was baptized on May 19, 1723, disappeared from the local records, and his later movements are not known. His name does not appear on the local records. It is of interest in this connection to notice that a Jeremiah Hayden died at Morristown, New Jersey, in July, 1829, at the age of eighty-five. There is no evidence to connect him with the Hayden family given herein, but the fact of his appearance in the town to which three members of the fourth generation of Haydens removed, and his name, which is the same as that of one of the fourth generation of Haydens, make it seem of some interest to mention the few facts known about him. From his age at the time of his death it appears that he was born in or about 1744. It would be possible therefore for him to have been the son of Jeremiah⁴ Hayden who was born at Braintree in 1722. He married Mary, who survived him, and drew a pension for his services in the Revolution. He gave a brief record of his service in proving a comrade's claim for a pension. A store account in Bedminster Township, Somerset County, New Jersey, shows his name in 1774-1775. He had a seat in the Presbyterian Church at Basking Ridge, New Jersey, in 1783, 1787, and 1795.

- vi. Nehemiah⁴, who was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on January 3, 1724/25, and baptized on the same day, like his brothers disappeared from the local records. His subsequent movements are not known.
- 5. vii. Nathaniel⁴, who was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on February 21, 1725/26.
- 6. viii. William⁴, who was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on October 5, 1727.

4. CHRISTOPHER⁴ HAYDEN (Samuel³, Nehemiah², John¹) was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, in the section which is now Randolph, Massachusetts, on February 18, 1718/19, and baptized on April 15, 1719. He served as hog reeve, being appointed on March 1, 1741. He had left Braintree before May, 1747, as on the 18th of that month it was voted that "Benja Porter a late Constable to be allowed on ye province & town Rate in his list for Chris. Hayden & Jno Stoder &c And then voted that Benja. Porter late Consle be allowed one pound twelve Shillings and four pence on the province & town rate of Christopher Hayden in his lists, vist. sd sum in the old tenor."

He removed to New Jersey, and there married before July, 1753, Elizabeth⁴ Sutton who was born in or about 1735. Elizabeth Sutton was the daughter of John and Mary (Martin) Sutton, the granddaughter of John and Elizabeth (Fitz Randolph?) Sutton, and the great-granddaughter of William and Damaris (Bishop) Sutton, who removed from Eastham, Massachusetts, to Piscataway, New Jersey. She married as her second husband, when she was about seventy years old, John Mills. Men named John Mills appear on the records of Braintree, Massachusetts, for a long period. It is possible that John Mills of New Jersey was an old acquaintance in Braintree of Christopher Hayden. "Elizabeth Mills, mother of Christopher Hayden," died in 1817, according to the Bible record of her grandson Daniel⁶ Hayden (Christopher⁵, Christopher⁴). This same Daniel⁶ Hayden wrote on October 9, 1833: "I have lately come to the knowledge of a fact very interesting to our family. Thirty acres of Grandfather Hayden's farm in New Jersey, given in dower to Grandmother, reverts to us as heirs, since her death." Another descendant, John James⁷ Hayden (James⁶, Christopher⁵, Christopher⁴), after giving a detailed account of his grandfather, Christopher⁵ Hayden, wrote as follows:

"His father Christopher Hayden Sr. died about the time Christopher Jr. left Pittsburgh in the fall or winter of 1805, but it was a long time afterwards before he received the intelligence of his death as postal facilities were very limited in that early day, and settlement of the western country, of which he was one of the pioneers.

"As soon after he received the intelligence of his father's death, as he could make provisions for the care and safety and support of his family during the long absence it would require—he started from Cincinnati on horseback through the wilderness for Morristown leading an extra horse expecting his mother would return with him and make his home her home during the remainder of her life. His father had been dead nearly two years at the time he started on his long and perilous journey.

"He arrived at Morristown safely but to his astonishment found his mother married again to one John Mills of Morristown, and from her learned the disposition his father had made of the estate, viz., to the widow during her natural life and to revert to his heirs at her death. After spending a week or ten days at his mother's he disposed of his extra horse and started on his return homeward and reached Cincinnati after an absence of over two months and never left Hamilton afterwards.

"His mother, as the wife of John Mills, outlived Christopher, Jr. many years, the date of her death I do not know but his was August 22, 1818, as before stated. He always said to his wife and children to console them for their poverty of a frontier life, that they would be better off, some day, for that, at his mother's death his father's property would revert to him that it was valuable and increasing in value every year—as it adjoined Morristown a very considerable and prominent town in New Jersey.

"It was years after Mrs. Mills' death before the family of Christopher Hayden, Jr., heard of it and when they did they also heard that Mills and wife had laid the farm off in lots and out lots and that it had been sold during their lifetime realizing quite a large sum as the proceeds thereof. . . . Most of my information is derived from my aunt Mary Cobb late deceased of Cincinnati, Ohio, who was my father's youngest sister and who died in Cincinnati on the 27th day of December, 1877, aged eighty-four years, the last one of eight children, four sons and four daughters born to Christopher Hayden, Jr., and Agnes Thompson (or Tomzen) Hayden his wife who survived her husband but a few years."

Christopher Hayden was living in Morris County, New Jersey, in 1756, and his children were baptized at Shrewsbury Episcopal Church, Monmouth County, New Jersey, in that year. On September 16, 1762, Oliver de Lancey and Henry Cuyler, Jr., of New York City, conveyed to Christopher Hayden of Somerset County, New Jersey, in consideration of five shillings proclamation money, 195/1000ths of an acre of unappropriated lands anywhere in East Jersey, except Romapock, in part of a warrant from the proprietors of East Jersey to de Lancey and Cuyler. Two days later, on September 18, 1762, the tract was located at Basking Ridge, in Barunell Township, Somerset County, evidently having been previously selected. Christopher⁴ Hayden remained in New Jersey, removing from Basking Ridge to a small farm adjacent to Morristown, New Jersey, where he died in or about 1805. There is no record to show that he served as a soldier in the War of the Revolution.

Christopher⁴ and Elizabeth (Sutton) Hayden had the following children:

- i. Rhoda⁵, who was baptized at Shrewsbury, New Jersey, on October 31, 1756.
- ii. Nicodemus⁵, who was baptized at Shrewsbury, New Jersey on October 31, 1756.
7. iii. Christopher⁵, who was born on March 1, 1756, at Basking Ridge, New Jersey.
- iv. Martin⁵, who perhaps went to the "Jersey Settlement," Rostraver Township, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania.
- v. Philip⁵.
8. vi. Samuel⁵, who was born on July 29, 1774.
- vii. Ebenezer⁵, who also probably went to the "Jersey Settlement," Rostraver Township, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania.
- viii. Priscilla⁵.
- ix. Mary⁵.
- x. Elizabeth⁵.

5. NATHANIEL⁴ HAYDEN (Samuel³, Nehemiah², John¹) was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on February 21, 1725/26, and baptized on May 29, 1726. He removed before 1752 to Basking Ridge, New Jersey. On August 28, 1752, he married, in the First Presbyterian Church of Morristown, New Jersey, Zerviah Sutton, also of Basking Ridge, who was born on June 7, 1736. He later removed to Rostraver Township, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, and owned land there in or before December, 1808. He was buried in Salem Yard, near West Newton, Pennsylvania, where his gravestone states that he died on September 5, 1812, in his eighty-sixth year. "Suviah" Hayden is also buried there. Her gravestone states that she died on April 29, 1814, in her seventy-eighth year.

Nathaniel⁴ and Zerviah (Sutton) Hayden had the following children:

9. i. Nathaniel⁵, who was born on November 19, 1755.
10. ii. Elijah⁵.
- iii. Nehemiah⁵, who married Sidney. They went to Bourbon County, Kentucky. In June, 1793, they sold land in Allegheny County, Pennsylvania (formerly Westmoreland), bought from Elijah Hayden in May, 1793.
11. iv. Ebenezer⁵, who was born in 1760.*
12. v. Hannah⁵, who was born on July 4, 1761.
- vi. Jonathan⁵.

6. WILLIAM⁴ HAYDEN (Samuel³, Nehemiah², John¹) was born at Braintree, Massachusetts, on October 5, 1727. He removed to New Jersey, and was a resident of Morristown, New Jersey, in or before 1756. He married Lydia Casted,† in or before 1749. Tradition says he went from Boston to Philadelphia. He removed to Loudon County, West Virginia, about 1760, and to Hampshire County, West Virginia, in or about 1781. He was a soldier from

* Mrs. Jesse S. Wall (Hannah Jane⁷ Hayden) (William⁶, Ebenezer⁵) is the authority for the inclusion of Ebenezer⁵, who does not appear on other lists of Nathaniel⁴ Hayden's children.

† Daniel⁶ Hayden (John⁵, William⁴), in a letter written March 20, 1860, stated that his grandfather married Lydia Casted of Staten Island. According to Ellis, History of Fayette County, and the accounts of some descendants William⁴ Hayden married Lydia Nicholson. Mrs. Mabel Mackinnon (granddaughter of Anaximander Belemus⁶ Hayden, William Belemus⁵, William⁴), stated that Lydia Nicholson was the wife of William Belemus⁵ Hayden, not of William⁴ Hayden.

Virginia in the Revolution.* He returned to Fayette County, Pennsylvania, and died there in 1823, at the age of ninety-six.

William⁴ and Lydia (Nicholson) Hayden had the following children:

13. i. John⁵, who was born on August 26, 1749, in Morris County, New Jersey.
- ii. Stephen⁵, who was baptized at Shrewsbury, New Jersey, on October 31, 1756. He died in Ohio.
- iii. Enoch⁵ (twin), who was born on March 27, 1755, and was baptized at Shrewsbury, New Jersey, on October 31, 1756. He was a physician, and lived in Virginia and Kentucky. He died on July 16, 1843, in Marion County, Missouri.
- iv. Noah⁵ (twin), who was born on March 27, 1755, was baptized at Shrewsbury, New Jersey, on October 31, 1756.
- v. Hosea⁵, who was baptized at Shrewsbury, New Jersey, on October 16, 1757.
- vi. Charlotte⁵, who was baptized at Shrewsbury, New Jersey, on October 9, 1774.
14. vii. William Belemus⁵, who was born on March 15, 1776.
- viii. Stephen⁵.
- ix. Webb⁵.
- x. Lot⁵.
- xi. John⁵ (?).
- xii. Rebecca⁵.
- xiii. Margaret⁵.†

* According to the Hayden Family Magazine, 1: 100-103, William Hayden saw the following military service:

In 1779, two hundred volunteers were enrolled against the Shawnees. William Hayden enlisted under Colonel Bowman at Harrodsburg, Kentucky, in April, 1779. In July they unsuccessfully attacked the Indian village at Chillicothe.

William Hayden was Sergeant of the guard at Fredericksburg Magazine, and for his services he received two thousand two hundred and sixty-eight acres on Timber Ridge, Hampshire County, West Virginia (then Virginia). This land was disposed of in nine separate deeds between 1791 and 1795. On May 7, 1791, William and Lydia Hayden deeded three hundred acres to their son Belemus Hayden. The last deed signed by Lydia was that of September 2, 1794. She probably died soon afterward and was probably buried in the old cemetery at Rio where they lived with their son William Belemus Hayden. William Hayden made two more deeds on August 11, and November 24, 1795. He probably lived with his son Belemus until his death.

† This list of children has been difficult to compile, as family records vary among themselves. The list of children given by Daniel⁶ Hayden (John⁵, William⁴) includes Pamela, Percina and Charlotte, and excludes Stephen and the last three children given above.

7. CHRISTOPHER⁵ HAYDEN (Christopher⁴, Samuel³, Nehemiah², John¹) was born on March 1, 1756, at Basking Ridge, New Jersey, baptized at Shrewsbury, New Jersey, on October 31, 1756, and died on August 22, 1818, in Hamilton County, Ohio, aged sixty-two years and five months. He married in May, 1780, Agnes Thompson of Allentown, Monmouth County, New Jersey. She was born in April, 1753, in New Jersey, and died in October, 1829. She was the daughter of John Thomson or Thompson, and the sister of David Thompson of Elizabeth Township, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, whose will was made and proved in 1799. She was also the sister of Cornelius, John and Daniel Thompson. Hayden removed from Morristown to Redstone, (now Brownsville) Pennsylvania, and soon afterward to a place ten miles from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. In 1787, land was surveyed to him in what is now Forward Township, Westmoreland County (now Allegheny County) Pennsylvania. This was known as the "Jersey Settlement." He bought land in Rostraver Township in 1789, which he and his wife Agnes sold in 1804. In or about 1805, they moved by flatboat to Hamilton County, Ohio, where he died on August 22, 1818, at the age of sixty-two years and five months. There was a Christopher Hayden who was a Ranger from Westmoreland County, in 1778 and 1783, serving for the defense of the Pennsylvania frontier in Captain Morris Moore's (?) Company, but it has not been established that Christopher⁵ Hayden was he. There is no tradition recorded by his son or grandson to that effect, and the theory that he was the Ranger would necessitate his removal to Pennsylvania, unmarried, before 1778, his return to New Jersey and marriage there in 1780, and his removal to Pittsburgh before his first child was born in 1781.

Christopher⁵ and Agnes (Thompson) Hayden had the following children:

15. i. Daniel⁶, who was born on April 9, 1781, at Redstone, Pennsylvania.
- ii. Elizabeth⁶, who was born on September 20, 1782, and married William Whitaker of Hamilton County, Ohio.
- iii. Anna⁶, who was born on December 11, 1784, and married ——— Worth or North. She died in 1827, childless.
- iv. Agnes⁶, who was born on September 5, 1786, and died in 184-, (exact year unknown).

16. v. John⁶, who was born on October 17, 1788.
- vi. William⁶, who was born on July 16, 1790.
17. vii. James⁶, who was born on September 18, 1792.
18. viii. Mary (Polly)⁶, who was born on September 29, 1794.

8. SAMUEL⁵ HAYDEN (Christopher⁴, Samuel³, Nehemiah², John¹) was born on July 29, 1774, and went in 1787 at the age of thirteen with his brother Christopher to Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, to a locality now in Allegheny County, the "Jersey Settlement." He married on October 3, 1798, in Westmoreland County, Sophia³ Gray who was born on April 10, 1771, and died on March 21, 1841, in Smith Township, Columbiana County, Ohio. She was a daughter of Arthur and Ann (Sutton) Gray and a granddaughter of Abraham and Jane (Orrison or Areson) Gray. Samuel Hayden lived in Westmoreland County near what is now McKeesport. Between 1801 and 1804 he went with his wife and children to the Western Reserve in Ohio. Later he went to a place astride the line between Portage and Mahoning Counties. He was a farmer. He died on March 29, 1840, in Smith Township, Columbiana County, Ohio.

Samuel⁵ and Sophia (Gray) Hayden had the following children:

19. i. William⁶, who was born on June 30, 1799, in Rostraver Township, Pennsylvania.
20. ii. Arthur Gray⁶, who was born on September 27 or 29, 1800, at Rostraver Township, Pennsylvania.
- iii. John⁶, who was born on October 26, 1801, at Rostraver Township, Pennsylvania, and died on February 23, 1835 or 1836.
- iv. A daughter⁶, who was born on May 16, 1803, and died on May 17, 1803.
21. v. Christopher⁶, who was born on August 17, 1804, at Youngstown, Ohio.
22. vi. Daniel⁶, who was born on September 8, 1806, at Youngstown, Ohio.
23. vii. Rhoda⁶, who was born on May 25, 1808, at Youngstown, Ohio.
- viii. A daughter⁶, who was born on March 23, 1810, and died on March 24, 1810.

- ix. Samuel⁶, who was born on July 11 or 17, 1811 or 1812, at Youngstown, Ohio, and married on May 4, 1834, Elizabeth Caroline Hubbard.
- x. Amos Sutton⁶, who was born on September 17, 1813, at Youngstown, Ohio, was baptized by Walter Scott in 1828. He married on May 31, 1837, Sarah Merrick Ely. He and his brother William Hayden were the leaders in establishing the Eclectic Institute which in 1867 became Hiram College. Amos Sutton Hayden preached for many years chiefly at Hiram, where he was Principal of the Western Reserve Eclectic Institute from 1850 to 1857, and at Collamer where he resided. From 1868 to 1871, Amos Sutton Hayden was the minister of the church at Eureka, Illinois. He was the author of The Sacred Melodeon and other music books and at the request of the Western Reserve Ministerial Association he wrote and published the History of the Disciples in the Western Reserve. He died on September 10, 1880, at East Cleveland, Ohio.

9. NATHANIEL⁵ HAYDEN (Nathaniel⁴, Samuel³, Nehemiah², John¹) was born on November 19, 1755, and died on January 27, 1845, at the age of ninety. He married on October 14, 1781, Abigail Osborne, who was born on June 17, 1762, and died on April 20, 1836, at the age of seventy-three.

Nathaniel and Abigail (Osborne) Hayden had the following children:

- i. Permela⁶, who was born on June 14, 1782, and died on May 10, 1799.
- ii. Zerah⁶, who was born on November 25, 1783, and died on September 20, 1866, at the age of eighty-two years and nine months, near West Newton, Pennsylvania.
- 24. iii. Jonathan⁶, who was born on April 18, 1786.
- iv. Nathaniel⁶, who was born on February 17, 1788, and died on September 15, 1845.
- v. Abigail⁶, who was born on June 10, 1790, and died on April 20, 1830.
- vi. Phebia⁶, who was born on December 1, 1791.
- vii. Joseph⁶, who was born in 1794.

25. viii. Thomas Osborne⁶, who was born on August 4, 1796.
- ix. Elsie⁶, who was born on February 14, 1797.
- x. Mary⁶, who was born on September 10, 1803.
- xi. Cornelia⁶, who was born in 1804.
- xii. Elijah⁶, who was born on May 29, 1806.
- xiii. Elizabeth⁶, who was born on May 10, 1810.
- xiv. Lovisa⁶, who was born on December 11, 1813.

10. ELIJAH⁵ HAYDEN (Nathaniel⁴, Samuel³, Nehemiah², John¹) married Mary Ann and went to Kentucky. They had the following child:

- i. Abijah⁶, who was born in Cincinnati, Ohio.

11. EBENEZER⁵ HAYDEN* (Nathaniel⁴, Samuel³, Nehemiah², John¹) was born in 1760, and died in October, 1830. He married Elizabeth Bryon, who was born in August, 1770, and died in 1815.

Ebenezer⁵ and Elizabeth (Bryon) Hayden had the following children:

26. i. William⁶, who was born on January 7, 1806, at Budd's Ferry, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania.
27. ii. Joseph⁶.
28. iii. John⁶.

12. HANNAH⁵ HAYDEN (Nathaniel⁴, Samuel³, Nehemiah², John¹) was born on July 4, 1761, and died on March 4, 1850. She married Jonathan Sutton, who was born on August 20, 1749. They lived in Somerset County, New Jersey, and later in Belmont County, Ohio.

Jonathan and Hannah⁵ (Hayden) Sutton had the following children:

- i. John, who married Anna Budd.
- ii. Nathaniel, who married Cathren Sutton.
- iii. Elsie, who married William Vandorn.
- iv. Lewis, who married Elner McWilliams.
- v. Lachariah, who married Nancy King.
- vi. Monah, who married Elizabeth Frazier.
- vii. Charity, who married William McFarland.

* Mrs. Jesse S. Wall (Hannah Jane⁷ Hayden) (William⁶, Ebenezer⁵) is the authority for the inclusion of Ebenezer⁵ who does not appear on other lists of Nathaniel⁴ Hayden's children.

13. JOHN⁵ HAYDEN (William⁴, Samuel³, Nehemiah², John¹) was born on August 26, 1749, in Morris County, New Jersey, and was baptized on October 31, 1756, at the Episcopal Church at Shrewsbury, New Jersey. He died on July 24, 1836, near Oliphant Furnace, Pennsylvania. He married Charity Gard, daughter of John and Hannah Gard. She died on December 25, 1797, in her forty-sixth year, and was buried at White Rock Cemetery, Uniontown, Pennsylvania. He married as his second wife, on March 1, 1798, Mary Snider, who was born in Virginia, on September 26, 1773, and died in or about 1862 at Hopwood, Pennsylvania. By his two wives he had twenty-one or twenty-two children. John⁵ Hayden served in the New Jersey militia during the Revolution in 1776-1777, and at that time lived in Morristown. He later removed, in 1781, to George's Township, and patented land in 1787, which was later named Haydentown, (Pennsylvania), after him. At the time of his pension application, March 12, 1833, he lived in Fayette County, Pennsylvania, where the Census of 1790 shows him with five other men and four women in his family. He is said to have been the first man to discover iron west of the Allegheny Mountains, and to have been defrauded by his partner, John Nicholson. The partnership failed on May 30, 1796.

John⁵ and Charity (Gard) Hayden had the following children:*

- i. Jonathan⁶, who was born at Morristown, New Jersey, on November 16, 1774, and died in 1847. He married at ~~Crawfordsville, Indiana~~, Rebecca Taylor, who was born in January, 1780, the daughter of Fenwick and Experience (Robinson) Taylor. In 1807 Jonathan left Pennsylvania for Lewis County, Kentucky, and in 1836 he removed again, this time to Montgomery County, Indiana, where he died. He was the great-grandfather of Mrs. W. H. Davis, who has been very helpful in supplying information.
- ii. Hannah⁶, who was born probably in or about 1775 at Morristown, New Jersey, and died on December 6,

* Mr. Warren S. Hayden's notes on the children of John⁵ Hayden have been amplified from some of the material in the Hayden Family Magazine. This supplemental information about Stephen⁶ is found in 2: 56; about Jacob⁶, in 1: 33, 34, and 2: 113-115, and about Daniel⁶, in 1: 27, 31, 32, and 2: 113. It seems of some importance to add information about these children, since John⁵ Hayden is so important a link in the connection of the western family with that of New England.

1811, at the age of thirty-seven, and was buried at Uniontown, Pennsylvania.

- iii. Stephen⁶, who was born on March 20, 1776, at Morristown, New Jersey. In 1778 he went with his parents to Pennsylvania. He married Margaret Detron and settled at Burlington, Iowa. He died on January 18, 1857. The above information is founded on statements of Stephen⁶ Hayden's grandson, Alfred James Gillespie (Mary⁷ (Hayden) Gillespie, Stephen⁶).
- iv. Jacob⁶, who was born on May 18, 1783, in Pennsylvania. He married on October 20, 1806, Sophia Shacklett, and removed to Kentucky. He was called "Kentucky Jake" by his grandson, John D.⁸ Hayden (Blancit⁷, Jacob⁶). He died in 1874.
- v. John⁶, who removed to Columbus, Ohio (or possibly Cincinnati) and married Hannah Shacklett. She was a cousin to the Hannah who married his brother Daniel.
- vi. Charity⁶, who was born on April 7, 1789, in Fayette County, Pennsylvania, and married Joseph Williams of Fayette County and went west. She married as her second husband James Rinear.
- vii. Daniel⁶, who was born in or about June, 1790, and married Hannah Shacklett. In or about 1810 they removed to Kentucky.

36. WARREN SHERMAN⁸ HAYDEN (Warren Luce⁷, Daniel⁶, Samuel⁵, Christopher⁴, Samuel³, Nehemiah², John¹) was born at No. 8 Delay Street, Danbury, Connecticut, on October 20, 1870. He married as his first wife in 1893, at Hiram, Ohio, Blanche Rebecca Squire. She was born on March 12, 1872, at Hiram, the daughter of Frank and Delilah Squire. She died there on July 8, 1903. He married, secondly, Elizabeth Strong at Cleveland, Ohio, on April 18, 1906. She was born at Cleveland on June 20, 1880, the daughter of Edgar Eugene Strong and Mary Ella Clarke. She was a graduate of Smith College in the Class of 1903. She now resides in Cleveland.

Warren Sherman Hayden largely worked his way through college, being graduated from Hiram College at Hiram, Ohio, in 1892, and receiving the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy. He was admitted to the bar of Ohio in 1898.

Mr. Hayden was a traveling representative of Lamprecht Brothers and Company, bankers, of Cleveland, from 1892 to 1895, and manager of the bond department of that firm from 1895 to 1903. In 1903 he and Otto Miller formed the firm of Hayden, Miller and Company, dealers in investment securities, an association which continued until Mr. Hayden's death.

Elected in 1922 as a member of the Metropolitan Park Board of Cleveland, he became president on January 6, 1930, and served until his death. He was president of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce in 1913 and 1914, member of the Council and chairman of the Executive Committee of the Cleveland Community Fund, president of the Investment Bankers Association of America in 1917 and 1918, a member of the National Tax Association and the Ohio State Board of Commerce. During the World War he was a member of the War Council of the Cleveland Red Cross, member of the Central Liberty Loan Committee of the Cleveland District, member of the Mayor's Advisory War Board of Cleveland, and a member of the World Court Committee.

Mr. Hayden was a trustee of Hiram College, Hiram, Ohio, and Western Reserve University of Cleveland. He was also a trustee of the Hawken School Endowment Association, of the Cleveland Museum of Natural History, Lakeside Hospital and the University Hospitals, Inc., of which he was chairman of the Building Committee.

He was a member of the following societies: Ohio Archaeological and Historical Society, Western Reserve Historical Society, New England Society of Cleveland (president, 1927-1928), Cleveland Museum of Art, American Association of Museums, New England Historic Genealogical Society, Cleveland Museum of Natural History, Western Reserve Society of the Sons of the American Revolution and Ohio Society of Mayflower Descendants. Mr. Hayden was a director of many corporations, including Cleveland Union Terminals Company (president, 1931); Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway Company; Cleveland and Youngstown Railroad Company; Globe Machine and Stamping Company; Hayden, Miller and Company; Iroquois Securities, Inc.; Malvern Land Company; Michigan Central Railroad Company; New York Central Railroad Company; New York and Harlem Railroad Company; Strong, Carlisle and Hammond Company; Union Trust Company; Western Reserve Investing Corporation; West Shore Railroad Company; White Motor Company, and Zanesville and Western Railway Company.

At the time of his death on March 14, 1933, at Cleveland, Ohio, many resolutions of regret were adopted and many commendatory statements were made. One will be given here, an editorial appearing in the Cleveland Plain Dealer of March 15, 1933:

A CIVIC LEADER

"The death of Warren S. Hayden takes from the community one long prominent in many Cleveland activities, a man of wide acquaintance and innumerable friendships. Though business occupied most of his attention he still had time to associate himself with many movements for city betterment; in not a few he was a leader whom others were proud to follow.

"A mere mention of Mr. Hayden's important activities would read like a catalog. He was president of the Union Terminal Company that gave Cleveland the magnificent plant south of the Square, former president of the Chamber of Commerce, president of the Metropolitan Park Board, director of railroads, of the Union Trust Company and of White Motors, a patron of history and art as evidenced by his membership in local organizations devoted to their cultivation— Mr. Hayden lived a rounded career, recognizing the obligations of enlightened citizenship.

"Cleveland will miss Warren S. Hayden more than it realizes at the moment. He was identified with so many activities designed for the building of a better Cleveland, he gave his time so generously to movements that became a part of the city's progress, that his passing deprives the community of one of its mainsprings of action.

"His epitaph might well be this: Here lies a Clevelander who loved his city, worked hard for its upbuilding and lived to see big dreams come true."

Records of the Reverend Amos Sutton⁶ Hayden and his brother
William⁶ Hayden (Samuel⁵, Christopher⁴). A. S. Hayden was a scholarly minister, much interested in family genealogy, who left a written record of his researches, with the statement that his great-grandfather was a Hayden who had sons, Nathaniel, William, Samuel and Christopher, and that the family came from Boston, (of which Braintree was originally part), and an account, as above, of Christopher⁴ Hayden's marriage and movements and of his wife and children.

Records of Mrs. John Thompson Bruce Hayden (Martha (Parks)
Hayden) widow of John Thompson Bruce⁷ Hayden (Daniel⁶, Christopher⁵, Christopher⁴).

Statement of Martha (Parks) Hayden, that she heard her husband's two eldest sisters say that their grandfather, great-grandfather, and great-great-grandfather (sic), were named Christopher Hayden, and that the family came from Braintree, Massachusetts.

REFERENCES FOR NATHANIEL⁴ HAYDEN (Samuel³, Nehemiah², John¹)

Noah⁷ Hayden (Jonathan⁶, Nathaniel⁵, Nathaniel⁴) wrote that he was eighteen when his grandfather, Nathaniel⁵ Hayden, died.

and that he knew from him that he was the child of Nathaniel⁴ and Suviah Hayden; that he heard his grandfather say that the Haydens came from Wales (sic) to New Jersey, and then to Rostraver Township, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania; and that his grandfather said that he came first to Pennsylvania, and was followed by his father and brothers. Further, that his grandfather, Nathaniel⁵ Hayden, died in 1845, at the age of ninety, and was therefore born in 1755. Also that the burying place of this group is well known. He also stated that the John⁵ Hayden (William⁴) who first discovered iron west of the Allegheny Mountains was a relation of his.

Mrs. M. H. Houck (Zerah⁶ Hayden, Nathaniel⁵, Nathaniel⁴) also states that she knows of the burying place, and that she has the tradition that Nathaniel (⁴ or ⁵) Hayden came from New Jersey, bringing pear sprouts with him.

Mrs. Jesse S. Wall (Hannah Jane⁷ Hayden) (William⁶, Ebenezer⁵, Nathaniel⁴) presents what appears to be a quite exact family record showing her descent from Nathaniel Hayden, her great-grandfather, who was born on February 15, 1726, and whose wife "Sophia" (Suviah, Zerviah) was born on June 7, 1736.
